

The Commit Partnership

Director of College and Workforce Alignment
Dallas County Promise

The Commit Partnership, under its Dallas County Promise initiative, seeks a passionate, hard-working individual to serve in a full-time position as the Director of College and Workforce Alignment reporting to the Managing Director of the Promise effort. This key position will help drive organizational efforts focused on increasing the numbers of underrepresented students that are ready for, enrolling in, persisting through, and completing post-secondary credentials within college that are aligned to current North Texas workforce needs.

About The Commit Partnership:

The Commit Partnership is focused on the powerful idea that every child in Dallas County should receive an excellent and equitable K-12 education, preparing them to flourish at the collegiate level and beyond. To reach this vision, the Partnership serves as a community navigator and connector, analyzing data to elevate strategic initiatives, improve practices and policies, and ultimately growing community capacity, capabilities and resources to serve students more effectively.

Founded in 2012, the Partnership is the nation's largest educational collective impact organization: a coalition of over 200 partners (public and private schools, colleges, foundations, businesses, and nonprofits), all working collaboratively to solve our region's biggest systemic educational challenges. Our flagship effort, "Early Matters Dallas", focuses on improving early childhood outcomes, while our second initiative, "Best-in-Class DFW", aims in partnership with the Communities Foundation of Texas to increase the number of effective and diverse campus educators serving DFW's 1.2 million students. Our third initiative, "Dallas County Promise", seeks to align our local higher ed institutions to maximize the number of students who can access and complete a quality post-secondary education.

Each effort is supported by a dedicated advisory board responsible for fundraising, advocacy, and monitoring community progress and is guided by community strategic plans developed by global management consulting firms Boston Consulting Group, Bain & Co. and McKinsey & Co., Day-to-day work is supported by more than 25 full-time staff who combine data, deep educational experience, and strategic thinking to collectively support Partnership efforts while advocating for Dallas County students at the state and local level and convening community conversations around the latest research and best practices. The net result is a shared roadmap for the future that civic leaders and local stakeholders own and hold themselves mutually accountable for its execution.

About the Dallas County Promise:

Launched in 2017, the Dallas County Promise is a transformational collaboration between regional public school districts, higher ed institutions, workforce, and communities to increase college completion rates and strong alignment to North Texas' workforce needs for the County's 28,000 high school seniors graduating annually. Dallas County is committed to developing a world class talent pipeline that creates equity in outcomes for students, families, and communities. At its core, the "Promise" is (i) a last dollar scholarship from the Dallas County Community College District Foundation, combined in partnership with matching university scholarships for students seeking a B.A., supporting career pathways aligned to high demand jobs; and (ii) a backbone organization supporting the Promise's enrollment and degree completion efforts through data, convening power, fundraising and continuous improvement processes.

Director: The position will encompass the following roles:

- Communication – design and effectuate strong communication channels with all stakeholders including students, parents, high schools, school district offices, community colleges, universities, employers, community agencies, and workforce organizations;
- Coordination - help to coordinate and align the work of the Dallas County Promise through three main functions: development of policy, influencing college program development, overseeing program evaluation, and managing a process of continuous improvement through the use of data to inform changes in policies and processes across the talent pipeline from K12 to college/universities, and then into the workforce.
- Workforce Alignment: development of stakeholder relationships across the North Texas talent pipeline with a focus on workforce alignment for pathways that are being developed in high school, through the community college and universities, and aligned to high demand job opportunities. The role will identify opportunity gaps in the talent pipeline, shine the light on best practices, and look to develop scalable strategies to more intentionally link students to workforce opportunities.

Responsibilities & Work Products

Policy and Program Development

- Develop policies for student participation
- Develop policies to inform articulation agreements, data sharing agreements, and memorandums of understanding for all participating groups
- Influence college programming to best meet the needs of non-traditional college students that focus on high demand jobs

Program Evaluation:

- Work with an outside group to help design and implement ongoing program evaluation efforts
- Guide the publishing and dissemination of the evaluation
- Develop simple marketing messages to help tell the expected story of success and ongoing continuous improvement efforts to make the program even more effective

Continuous Improvement:

- Develop data reporting on the talent pipeline and the student experience to guide continuous improvement conversations for all participating organizations (high schools, community colleges, universities, workforce)
- Produce recommendations with and across organizations to reduce barriers for student success

Workforce Alignment:

- Work with regional workforce partners to define and disseminate knowledge of high demand jobs into higher education and K-12
- Identify/develop tools for high schools to use in guiding students in their career pathway selection
- Develop strategies to connect youth to employment
- Drive regional conversations to develop clarity on soft skills to teach, assess, and report for the regional talent pipeline.
- Use data to help guide the continuous improvement of college pathways with community college and university partners.

Education and Experience

- Leadership experience in education (or education related) with a working knowledge of high schools and high school cultures for economically disadvantaged students and students of color.
- Leadership experience in higher education (or higher ed related) with a working knowledge of higher ed programs and culture for economically disadvantaged students and students of color.
- Leadership experience in workforce development (or workforce related) with a working knowledge of middle skill job market.
- Education level appropriate for job description
- Bilingual (Spanish) preferred but not required

Skills, Knowledge, and Abilities

- Solid communication and interpersonal skills with the ability to be personable yet persuasive.
- Ability to interact effectively in the community and at multiple levels within organizations, especially organizations serving culturally and economically diverse communities.
- A degree of personal organization and results-orientation that enables success in a quantitative, outcomes-oriented environment.
- A proven ability to exercise sound judgment and work independently on complex initiatives.
- Ability to operate with humility, an open mind, and a sense of urgency.
- A true curiosity and commitment to finding more effective ways to meet the needs of underserved students with a willingness and desire to engage fully in the challenges of this work and to communicate its challenges, successes, and conclusions.
- A gift of taking data and effectively visually representing it while telling an accurate and powerful story to help inspire and move people to action.
- Belief in the power of education and equity to improve the odds for all children in service of The Commit! Partnership's mission.

This position offers a competitive compensation and benefits package. Interested candidates email cover letter and one-page resume to eric.ban@commit2dallas.org. Please reference "Dallas County Promise: Director of College and Workforce Alignment" in the subject line. For more information read www.commit2dallas.org / www.dallascountypromise.org